

The Schindler list is a film made by Steven Spielberg in 1993 . This film speaks about the Second World War: we follow the story of Oscar Schindler. He's a german industrial who tries to safe the life of Jewish people when they have to go to concentration camps.. . For many reasons this film is a masterpiece . The first reason it's that he shows a real story, they didn't invent the story and that show how people can help other people during a crisis period like the Second World War . But this film has (for me) a problem : it has a manichean vision for showing the Nazis all of them are nasty. But for a film who shows the reality of the war it's a problem : all of the nazis during the war didn't trust this ideology and for many people they did not have a choice, they were forced to join the army .
