

The Sun is also a star

“Love always changes everything.”

Natasha only have 12 hour before leaving New York. Her family, illegally immigrated to United State is going to be deported to Jamaica but Natasha is trying to find a solution. Daniel, has an important interview for the university of Yale. Who would guess that they were going to meet? Chance or fate, they only have few hours to meet, get to know each other and love each other.

The Sun is also a star is a book written by Nicola Yoon and published in 2016. Nicola Yoon is known for her other book Everything Everything written in 2015 which was adapted for film in 2017.

The Sun is also a star had the first place on the New York Times bestseller list and was named at the Amelia Elizabeth Walden Award. The book was also adapted for film in 2019.

I don't usually read love story books but I was intrigued by the story and I wasn't disappointed. It is a touching story in which the characters are funny, endearing to which we easily refer to. From the first chapter, the events and the story attract you and make you always want to read another chapter. In her book, Nicola Yoon broached and managed to mix, in an incredible way, sensitive subjects such as immigration, poverty, cultural differences, dreams, love and destiny and intersperses Natasha and Daniel's story with beautifully reflection and deeply considered on other characters, physics, history, betrayal and family.

Solenn Amet